

Applying for the CofEPQH Application Process Cohort 4

Application Process

Notes

1. A participant is likely to be considered 'borderline' if the information provided in the application form does not clearly demonstrate evidence of working at a senior leadership level.
2. A telephone interview will be conducted by the partner school within the region that the applicant has selected as their preferred choice. In the interview further clarity will be sought about the applicants readiness for headship.
3. Applicants are required to discuss their choice of mentor with their diocese before including their name within the application. This process is designed to prevent issues with mentors being highlighted later.
4. Applicants will be asked for permission for the Foundation of Educational Leadership to share relevant personal information with both partner schools, diocese, the DfE, Tribal (our QA agent) and NPQ Online (our assessment partner).
5. In the case of an application being rejected, this may be on the grounds of the applicant not demonstrating that they are yet working at the right level, lack of evidence of readiness for headship, or because a regional group has reached its full capacity.
6. In the case of a regional group becoming full, where possible we will offer successful applicants the option to take part in a different regional group as a second choice.
